THE FEVERED CITY.

AMONG THE DEAD AND THE SICK.

The Report of the Howard Association on the Present Degree of Sickness—The New Cases and Deaths of the Day—An Appeal to the Rich Men.

MEMPHIS, August 7.—Eleven new cases of yellow fever were reported this morning, seven of whom are colored. The whites are Mike Denyer, John Swanauder, J. M. Tighe and Miss Amelia Henman. Two deaths have occurred since last night—Mike Hally, and Leonce Cherot, a prescription clerk at Monroe's drug store, on Beal street. Mrs. J. M. Tighe is also down with fever at her residence, on Walker avenue, beyond the city limits. Ed. Moon is still alive. The weather is sultry. Heavy storms prevailed last night north of Memphis, and a light shower fell in the city shortly before daylight this morning.

The report of the Howard association is as follows: Total number of cases, all diseases, 218; total number discharged, all diseases 63; balance receiving medical attention for various diseases, 155; total number of yellow fever cases, 59; total number discharged, yellow fever cases, 13; balance, yellow fever cases, 46; number of convalescents, yellow fever, 23; number still sick, 23. Besides the above, the association is furnishing nurses, etc., to patients of other physicians.

Twenty-nine cases in all, including the five mentioned last night, were reported for the 24 hours ending at 6 p.m. Nineteen of these were colored. Among the whites reported this afternoon are R. E. Webb, Lizzie Gatchell and Lillie Todd. Three additional deaths have occurred—Kate Hally, Fred Holland and Jesse Heard, colored. This marked increase in the number of new cases plainly indicates that the fever is rapidly spreading. The Howard association to-day assigned twenty-five additional nurses to duty. Their daily expenses now aggregate near $500. Ed Moon's condition to-night is more favorable. R. E. Webb is in a critical condition. Mrs. Flago and her remaining two children were prostrated this afternoon. Their cases will be reported to-morrow. The entire family, mother and four children, are down with the disease. Commencing with to-morrow a semi-weekly mail will be received from and sent to Grenada, Miss., via the Mississippi and Tennessee railroad. It rained heavily this afternoon, and another storm from the south is threatened. The committee of safety have sent circular letters to absent Memphians in other cities, asking their assistance in supporting the poor now in camp.

The rich men of the city have, with characteristic meanness, done but very little toward relieving the distressing situation. The Appeal addresses them as follows: The city authorities will soon be brought face to face with a problem more terrible in its significance than the spread of the disease that has caused Memphis to be deserted. For the sake of simplifying the question presented, let us leave out the colored people, who have expressed their determination to remain in the city and support themselves by contributions raised among themselves and aid from abroad, and there still remain twelve hundred men, women and children in the camps who must be fed. But how is this to be done? The funds contributed for the purpose by generous sympathizers at the north, and a few of our citizens, is now almost exhausted. In a few days at the farthest, an appeal must be made for help to save the poor refugees from starvation. But to whom shall this appeal be made—to people who, or to our own citizens? That there should be any necessity for making the question is a discredit to those of our citizens who have wealth lying idle in their coffers, and would let the poor die of starvation at their door, or send forth the piteous cry of famine to again arouse the sympathies of those who, as the avalanche has said before, have no interest in them except on the ground of simple humanity. To allow such an appeal to become necessary would stamp Memphis as a city of paupers, and those of her citizens who could give hundreds and give nothing, as men destitute not only of feeling, but of pride, which in this case becomes nothing more than common decency. What have they given up to this time? Comparatively nothing. Of the $4,500 received, fully half of it was contributed by men who have not a dollar's interest in Memphis. The rest came from less than a dozen of our citizens. And what say you, gentlemen of the long rent roll and heavy credit at the bank? Shall the world witness, to our eternal shame, the second outpouring of a people's wealth for a charity unexampled in history? Wait you until the rich man give his thousands, and the hoss carrier and over-worked seamstress besiege the doors of relief offices to give the little mite which they have saved by stinting themselves and their families of the actual necessities of life to save our poor from perishing by disease and starvation? To do so would be to degrade yourselves, and the honest, industrious poor, who cry for bread you cannot ignore without dishonor. Think of it! The richest commercial city between St. Louis and New Orleans, and in many respects unequaled by either, standing like a paltry beggar at the door of the outside world! It would be a spectacle from which any Memphian with a spark of self-respect, would turn away in deep humiliation. The illimitable meanness that could render such a state of affairs possible is illustrated by the instance mentioned in our local columns of a refugee who wrote to the negro left in charge of his property that "he understood that a commissariat had been opened here, and he must get his rations from that source." In other words, that he would have the faithful guardian of his property feed out of the scanty fund contributed for the suffering poor! It is humiliating to think that any man could be capable of such meanness, and it is incumbent upon our citizens to show that he is the only one.

NEW ORLEANS, August 7.—The board of health to-night adopted the following resolution: That there is not now a single case of yellow fever in the city or environs of New Orleans. That in the opinion of the board concurred in, we believe, by the entire medical profession of this city, there is no danger of an epidemic arising this summer from past or future causes, should such occur. The grave danger to be apprehended is from the introduction of foreign cases, which the board of health is determined to avert by the strictest and most unremitting vigilance.

The above resolution was preceded by the declaration that the city is entirely free from contagious disease, and suggesting that quarantines against New Orleans be removed. The board granted Dr. Chopin leave of absence, until he recovers his health. Information has been received that the quarantine against New Orleans has been removed by Grenada, Miss., and other points on the Jackson road.

WASHINGTON, August 7.—Health Officer Townsend to-day recommended to the district commissioners that inspectors be appointed to board all trains and boats bringing passengers from the south, and to take such measures as may be necessary to prevent the introduction of yellow fever.

WHO IS HIS MOTHER?

A Reminiscence of the Late War.

ANNAPOLIS, ILL., August 5.—EDITORS CONSTITUTION: On the 9th day of April, 1862, as we were burying the confederate dead at Shiloh, I found the corpse of a young man—a mere boy in appearance—probably 17 years old. He had been wounded by a rifle ball, and had crawled off into a vine-hidden ravine to die. He was a very handsome youth, with light curly hair and blue eyes, and features strikingly beautiful in death. Having bled to death, his body looked like chiseled marble. There was nothing on his person to tell us whom he was or where he was from. But there was a picture, evidently that of his mother, which he had held and gazed upon until his eyes dimmed in death, and his cold hand relaxed its grasp, and let the treasure softly fall upon his lifeless heart, where I afterwards found it, and still have it in my possession.

The lady is dressed in heavy black, with a wide collar. The face is oval, apparently thirty-five years of age, and of pure southern type. The eyes and hair are black, or very dark brown. The hair is worn in the style of '58, and is combed over the angles of the forehead. A long gold chain with pencil encircles the neck. But the most singular thing about this picture is that it is taken on patent leather and is still well preserved. With the aid of a comrade, although much fatigued, we made him a grave—a deep grave—and, after winding an army-blanket about him, laid him to rest.

It was all that we could do for our handsome, unfortunate foe.

"He was somebody's darling," but whose? Who among your readers recognizes the youth and the picture? If the unhappy mother should see this it will be a comfort to know that her boy died a brave and painless death, and that he received as decent a burial as did his dead enemies. Any one wishing to know further of this may address

OUR EDUCATIONAL INTERESTS.

Thoughts Elicited by the Commencement Exercises of the State University.

ATHENS, August 6.—For the first time for many years the board of trustees of the university met and adjourned without dissensions. The fierce contests that have been urged for the past four or five years, were abandoned and peace reigned supreme. Even the resignation of Professor Wm. M. Browne, which had been promised at the last session by his friends, was not thought of, until the board, as I hear, requested him to withdraw it. Hence, the trustees having no fighting to do—no plots to break and no counter plots to make, gave their whole time to the consideration of the real interests of the university and the advancement of its cause.

AN UNEVENTFUL SESSION.

The session has been a singularly eventful one. But, I suppose we may say, as the president of a cotton factory did: "When I go into my factory and find my hands quietly resting, I know that my machinery is doing its work properly. When I see them in a stir, I know that something is wrong with the machinery." So it is with the university. When the trustees are easy the machine is working well. The truth is Dr. Mell has brought everything up in shipshape style. There is not a flaw in the administration. His plan of appealing to the honor of the students for the great all-round college life, and using technical discipline only for the details, has worked admirably. The students have been a bit freer and more sportive than before, because better humored—but they have been better than ever—have done better work. This is, I believe, the universal testimony.

THE STATUS OF THE COLLEGE.

The catalogue shows a most gratifying increase in students. The attendance for '78-'79 did not reach up to 400, while the catalogue for '79-80 shows 449 names—a gain of over 50 new students in one year. Dr. Mell states that he confidently expects 200 students on the catalogue for the next year. He says if those parents and guardians who have written to him, or a reasonable proportion of them, carry out their intentions, the number of students will reach 250. The friends of the university expect this much. The institution is on the upgrade, and it is much easier to carry it on up than it was to start it. It will be easier to add 100 students next year than it was to add the 50 of last year. The people all talk brightly and hopefully about the university, and all of its friends seem encouraged and nerved anew to work for it.

THE BRANCH COLLEGES.

It must not be understood that the appropriation of $2,000 each to the branch colleges at Milledgeville in any way impairs the efficiency or integrity of the fund in use at the university. The trustees know that the fund should be kept at the university, and that the law says it shall "maintain at least one college," devoted to mechanics, the science of agriculture, etc. They were able, however, to spare enough to give each of the colleges $2,000 for one year, and the appropriation was made accordingly. The friends of these schools all understand that if the trustees are unable to give $2,000 after the present year, they must be content with whatever can be spared. The whole fund of the land scrip is $17,740. Of this amount, $3,500 (or about that) goes to Dahlonega. It is believed that Milledgeville will probably not be able to get her buildings in order, and thus claim the amount appropriated to her. If this is not done, it is possible that the appropriation of $2,000 each can be continued to the other branch colleges. This would take for Dahlonega, Cuthbert and Thomasville about $7,500 of the fund, and leave about $10,000 for Athens. My own impression is, however, that it will finally come to having one branch at Dahlonega, and another at either Cuthbert or Thomasville. These could be easily supported out of the fund. The trustees have control of these colleges. The chancellor prescribes their curriculum, and the trustees elect their presidents. They have elected Mr. Scott for Thomasville, and Mr. Sanford for Cuthbert—both excellent selections.

WILL THE UNIVERSITY BE MADE FREE?

I am inclined to think that within the next five years the university of Georgia will be made a free institution. It is almost a free college now. From Colonel Yancey, the admirable chairman of finance, and one of the ablest and most devoted of the trustees, I learn that out of the 149 students, only about 40 are paying students—the tuition being $75 and the total fund of this year being about $3,200. There was a time when it was $8,000 to $10,000. At present there are 55 agricultural students. There are besides this 40 free scholarships. The state agricultural society has 20 scholarships, and various academies and schools have one each. Besides these, if there is any smart, worthy young fellow in any county who is anxious to get a collegiate education and is not able to pay for it, it is easy to get him a place in the university. Such a man has never yet been turned away.

Dr. H. V. M. Miller, who has been an advocate of free education, thinks it could be brought about pretty soon. Franklin college has an income of $8,000 interest from the state, of about $2,000 from the Terrell endowment and probably $2,000 from other sources. Besides this, it uses the land scrip fund for the payment of certain professors and the part pay of others, and by a judicious combination of the two funds, it is probable that the university will soon be opened free to every boy in the state of Georgia. One of the difficulties in the past has been the expenditure of money for improvements and repairs. The grounds have been laid off and the buildings all fixed up in style. Still it may be years before free tuition is made a fact. There are some few of the trustees who oppose it as a policy.

THE BRANCH COLLEGES AS FEEDERS.

The opinion is that the branch colleges at Thomasville and Cuthbert will prove considerable feeders to the university. These graduates will be prepared for the junior classes at Athens, and they can get their diplomas from the university in two years after going there. With board and lodging at $13.50 per month, there are few fathers who cannot give their sons two years at Athens.

The university graduated a "Bachelor of Agriculture," this year, for the first time, I believe. This young man will have an enormous amount of criticism to encounter from the old horny-handed farmers when he gets into active life. The old-fashioned plow-folks don't believe in science in farming, and when a man comes and tries to farm with a diploma, they will look on suspiciously and with doubt in their eyes.

A Naval Skirmish.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

PANAMA, July 28.—The recently reported naval battle off Iquiqui between the Peruvian iron-clad Huascar and the Chilian fleet proves to have been little more than a skirmish in which no serious damage was done on either side. The commander of the Huascar intended to attack the weaker Chilian vessels and transports in the harbor during the night while the Chilian ironclad Abtao was crossing outside to avoid the danger of the torpedos but on arriving there he found the harbor empty. On his way out he fell in with the Chilian transport Matial Consino and was about to take possession of her when the Chilian ironclad Abtao appeared. The Huascar tried to use her ram but failed and the two ironclads exchanged shots without any serious effect when the Huascar retreated steaming away from the Chilian fleet with ease. The skirmish took place about 3 o'clock in the morning.

A Full Confession.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

ST. PETERSBURG, August 7.—Mirsky, who was arrested at Taganrog on July 15th, has confessed that it was he who attempted to assassinate General Dreadelin.

The Golos says intelligence has been received from Tchikishlar, under date of 13th July, that the advance guard of General Lazareffs has moved forward.

DAVIS'S LEGACY.

DAHLGREN'S STORY OF BEAUVOIR.

The ex-President of the Confederacy Receiving Beauvoir as a Gift Before Mrs. Dorsey's Death—Mortimer Dahlgren's Testimony Given in Advance.

ST. LOUIS, August 2.—Mortimer Dahlgreen, of this city, is a son of Gen. Charles G. Dahlgren, and one of the perspective contestants of the will of Mrs. S. A. Dorsey, whose fortune was bequeathed to Jefferson Davis. Mr. Dahlgren keeps a cigar shop at Easton and Garrison avenues, is 23 years of age, of tall and imposing presence like his father, the ex-rebel general, and his uncle, the union rear-admiral and inventor. Mr. Dahlgren is the chief witness relied upon by the contestants to prove that Jefferson Davis exerted an undue influence upon Mrs. Sarah A. Dorsey, which resulted in a gift of Beauvoir, her splendid home in Mississippi, on the gulf of Mexico, to the ex-president of the confederacy, while she was yet alive, and the bequest to Jefferson Davis of all her property at her death. The fact that Mr. Davis obtained Beauvoir before Mrs. Dorsey's death, although suspected by the other heirs, is made known definitely for the first time by Mr. Mortimer Dahlgren. It is argued by the heirs that Jefferson Davis apprehended a contest of the will, which was already in existence when Beauvoir was transferred to him, and that he took the precaution to obtain in fee simple the beautiful place which he had often said would render him happy if he could call it his home.

Mr. Mortimer Dahlgren, who was Mrs. Dorsey's half-brother, lived at Beauvoir from March 5, 1877, to March 23, 1879, and quit the place because, as he says, Jefferson Davis became owner and director of the property, and exerted a greater influence over Mrs. Dorsey than Mr. Dahlgren could. "I have evidences," he says in an interview with a Globe-Democrat reporter, "that will place Jefferson Davis in an unenviable light before the word, and will show that he is by no means the chivalrous and upright man that he is by many supposed to be."

Mr. Dahlgren went to Beauvoir, he says, at Mrs. Dorsey's request to take business charge of her affairs. He was then just through school in Virginia, and he met Mrs. Dorsey in New York. She had always seemed to favor him most of all the children her mother bore after her marriage to General Dahlgren, and she begged him to go south with her. She promised him faithfully, he avers, that she would treat him as her child, and that he should never want for anything. When they reached Beauvoir they found Jefferson Davis there, with Jefferson Davis, jr. Mrs. Davis was a niece of General Joe Davis, nephew of the ex-president, had a law office in Biloxi, five miles away, and Jefferson Davis, jr., was studying law under his instruction, and Mr. Dahlgren also went into his office. Mr. Dahlgren became Mrs. Dorsey's business manager. He took general charge of the plantation, made all the contracts, and paid all bills. Life was then very pleasant at Beauvoir. Mrs. Dorsey and Mr. Davis were daily in intimate conversation and literary work. In October of 1877 Mr. Davis and his son went to Memphis to meet Mrs Davis, who had just returned from Europe, but Mr. Davis speedily returned to Beauvoir, and his son remaining with his mother, fell a victim to yellow fever the next year.

When asked as to Jefferson Davis's employment at Beauvoir, Mr. Dahlgren said: "He was almost constantly writing or conversing with my sister; he helped her with her book; indeed, I think she wrote much of it at his dictation. She seemed at this time to have conceived a great appreciation of his literary pretensions. On Christmas day of 1877, Mrs. Dorsey gave a dinner to General Jubal Early at Beauvoir, and a roasted peacock was served. It was stuffed and placed upon the platter as though about to fly. The same night she gave a party in General Early's honor. The old Virginia reel was proposed, and Jefferson Davis, General Early, Dr. Hollingsworth and Major W. T. Walthall danced, although they declared that they hadn't danced so in twenty years. Mrs. Dorsey entertained magnificently, and it was considered a special mark of favor to be invited to her social gatherings, which was chiefly composed of either literary celebrities or politicians of prominence. Mrs. Davis was rarely at Beauvoir. She visited there about June 1, 1878, and did not purpose to remain long, but the outbreak of yellow fever delayed her return to Memphis. She started for Memphis shortly before January 1, 1879, but her husband remained and secured like one of the family. Mrs. Dorsey's admiration for him was very great. She was a very impulsive woman, and seemed a monomaniac regarding Mr. Davis. She thought that he had been persecuted by his enemies, and that since he had ceased to be president even his former friends had neglected him. She seemed to be bound up in Jefferson Davis. He ought to have seen it, and not have suffered the motives of an innocent and excellent lady to be misconstrued in the eyes of the world."

In February last Jefferson Davis went away from Beauvoir, but he returned in the same month, and then it was—so Mr. Dahlgren charges—that Jefferson Davis began to undermine him. Mr. Dahlgren had in the meantime graduated in the study of law, been appointed postmaster at Beauvoir, and become the law partner of General Joe Davis, and a half owner in the Seashore Gazette, published in Handsboro, four miles above Beauvoir. His account of his last few weeks of life at Beauvoir, when, he says, Jefferson Davis began to undermine him, is told as follows:

"At this time only Mrs. Dorsey and Davis and myself were in the place, excepting, of course, a large retinue of servants. Mr. Davis gradually—though not offensively at first—began assuming the management of the place while I was absent at my office. My sister tolerated it. She seemed to think that everything he did was of necessity right. His very tread was that of one born to control. He scalked about the place in a domineering and despotic way. If he disliked a servant he had only to intimate his dislike, and the servant was discharged. I saw him on one occasion kick a crippled negro down a back stairs for some fancied insult. The darkey was an old family servant, and perhaps presumed on this fact. The matter was referred by Jeff to my sister, who discharged the servant, but subsequently took him back after he had apologized to the ex-president. Mr. Davis threatened to beat another negro for disregarding an order of his, and carrying out one of mine. By this time things came to such a pass that I never knew whether my orders would be obeyed or not. Mr. Davis countermanded them. Our relations were otherwise still pleasant, for we built and launched a boat together. But I soon saw that, completely under the control of Mr. Davis, as she now was, my sister, Mrs. Dorsey, was greatly embarrassed. My self-esteem would not permit me to remain longer, and I told my sister I would go west. She pleaded with me to remain, and said that I might have a house and lot if I would do so. I didn't accept the latter offer, and she then said that as I seemed determined to go, she would give me some of her lands in either Louisiana or Arkansas, as I preferred. I chose Arkansas, and she said that she would at once write to her agent in Arkansas to have the deed made out in my name and sent to me.

"In the meantime I discovered, to my great surprise, that Mrs. Dorsey had privately sold Beauvoir to Davis on time. It was understood to be a mere nominal sale, and Davis was to give notes running one, two and three years, I believe. I sought an explanation, and Mrs. Dorsey told me there was a private understanding between her and Davis that whenever she desired he was to deed back the land. She said that she had merely given the ex-president a home for his old age—a shelter over his head.

"The day of my departure (March 23 last) Jefferson Davis came to my cottage. I lived there and ate in the main house. Davis said, 'You know under what circumstances Beauvoir is in my name. I think you are doing wrong to go away for it is your sister's wish and mine that you remain and occupy this house. Your horses will be cared for and your meals served in your room if you like.'

"Davis urged this course, but I told him I couldn't live in his house, and I went away."

In May last Mr. Dahlgren met his sister in the St. Charles hotel in New Orleans. She was there for surgical treatment of a malignant cancer. It was on this trip that Mrs. Dorsey attracted attention by taking with her a large picture of Jefferson Davis, painted by the wife of her brother, Colonel Stephen P. Ellis, of Brooklyn. The portrait was hung on the walls of her room by her bedside. Mrs. Dorsey said that she had been too busy to write to her agent about the Arkansas property, and Mr. Dahlgren says that she reiterated her promise that he should have the property, and told him if he intended to practice law in Biloxi to select a house there, or have one built, and she would pay for it. He visited near Beauvoir, which was then occupied by Jefferson Davis and wife and General Joe Davis and wife, but he did not call. Mr. Davis, he says, spoke bitterly of this slight, and Mrs. Dorsey reproached her half brother for want of courtesy to the ex-president.

"I have every reason to believe," Mr. Dahlgren continued, in answer to a question as to Jefferson Davis's influence in preventing Mrs. Dorsey from fulfilling her pledges in respect to the property; "I have every reason to believe, from her constant protestations to me, that but for the influence of Mr. Davis, who had taken a dislike to me, the property would now be in the hands of the lawful heirs. I shall tell more when the will is contested, and justice is done to myself and family. Then we shall show not only how we have been defrauded of our rights, but shall show up Jefferson Davis to the contempt of the public, so that he may no longer parade before the world as a model man. Jefferson Davis puts my sister in a wrong position before the world. He could not affect her reputation among those who knew her, but the world at large might judge differently, not knowing her. Jefferson Davis must have known that, virtually living separate from his wife, by so long companionship with another lady he was compromising Mrs. Dorsey's reputation—compromising a wholly innocent and most estimable lady, whose bounty he was living on."

THE COMPTROLLER'S TROUBLES.

What Ex-Governor Rufus B. Bullock Thinks.

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: In your news column of this morning, your reporter referring to the public expressions in regard to the impeachment of the Hon. W. L. Goldsmith, comptroller-general, uses the following language:

"The republicans about town at first thought the impeachment of Colonel Goldsmith was a capital instance of retribution. They remembered how their rascally work had been exposed and now they were in high glee that a democrat official had been impeached. Their laugh soon died upon they remembered that this was a democrat called to account by democrats. The difference was apparent. Democracy tries her accused; the radicals dread those of their party who are proven guilty.

I ask space in your valuable paper to say that so far as my acquaintance extends there is no disposition among republicans to rejoice over any disgrace that may befall our state. We feel as keenly as do other good citizens, the misfortunes which have followed as a necessary consequence in the wake of the unrestrained flood of villification, misrepresentation and unsustained accusation which was heaped upon republican state officials, and which overwhelmed the republican administration. The present unfortunate condition of state affairs is the legitimate result of that mistaken public sentiment which justified and applauded false accusation against state officials, and if the painful position in which our state is now placed shall arouse a feeling in the public mind that will close the mouths of slanderers, and create a public opinion that will condemn any man who without proof, assails the honor of a state official it will be some recompense for this impeachment disgrace.

Every official high or low, against whom there is proof of wrong-doing should be formally and speedily tried and be punished or exhonorated as the facts may direct; and the fame of him against whom no proof is offered, should be guarded from slanders with the same jealous care as every good citizen should exercise in defending the honor of his state. It is not a partisan or a political question. The cause of the trouble is in the habit of false accusation imputing crimes to officials which if true should consign them to infamy. The cure will be found in a public opinion that will hold the accuser responsible if he fails to make good his accusation.

Every official, irrespective of politics, "proven guilty" should be punished without let or hindrance. Every false accuser should be branded a "liar," and held up for public contempt.

Respectfully, RUFUS B. BULLOCK.

Atlanta, August 6, 1879.

Notes from Blairsville.

About one week since a party of us visited Blairsville. We crossed the Blue Ridge at Tesnatee Gap, around which the scenery is exceedingly fine. Arrived in Blairsville Wednesday evening and remained until the following Monday in attendance upon the Dahlonega district conference, Methodist Episcopal church, south. The sessions of the conference, and the religious exercises connected with it, were very interesting. Some subjects connected with church work were discussed in a manner and with a spirit that would, no doubt, astonish those who imagine that there is little else than ignorance and wickedness to be found in the mountains.

The conference of about sixty members and the visitors were kindly and elegantly entertained. It has never been my privilege to be the guest of a more generous people. I stopped with the pleasant and refined family of Colonel C. J. Wellborn, who is the state senator from the Blue Ridge counties. I find that we have not to visit these mountains and enjoy the hospitality of the people, to have many false ideas regarding the people dispelled from our minds.

On our return I left the party at the gap where we crossed, and, ascending the highest peak which overlooks the turnpike, I had the grandest view of mountain scenery that it has ever been my privilege to enjoy in Georgia. For beauty and grandeur the scene was beyond description. All north Georgia, with its grand mountains, beautiful hills, charming valleys, and winding streams, was spread out before me.

For the last few weeks the rains have been abundant, and consequently the growing crops are looking promising. The harvest of wheat, oats and rye was good, and the yield of corn in this country will no doubt be excellent.

In our pleasant valley there are quite a number of visitors from the coast.

The National Cotton Exchange.

NEW YORK, August 7.—The convention of the national cotton exchange in this city on Wednesday next is creating much interest among cotton dealers. A committee of prominent dealers are now engaged in making arrangements for the place and programme of the meeting; and there is every reason to expect the convention will be very successful. It is expected it will be attended by 60 to 100 delegates representing every important district interested in the production of cotton. Just what subjects will be discussed at the convention has not yet been decided. President Puelps, of New Orleans, is now in Boston on business connected with the convention, and will be on hand to preside next week.

The arrival yesterday on the steamship Algeria, from Liverpool, of 130 Sheffield cutlers under contract with J. P. Frary, of Bridgeport, Conn., excites considerable interest. The men say they did not leave Sheffield for want of work, but because they were offered better wages and more comfortable homes by the proprietors of the Frary cutlery works. It is expected 500 more will come over in the fall.

The Carrollton Barbecue.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

CARROLLTON, GA., August 7.—A large and glorious time here to-day. Barbecue, Bill Arp and four thousand people. All the stores closed. First, second and third cousins were sitting on the left, right and middle, while grandpas and ma's were standing here and there like great oaks over the forest. Colonel Hardeman made a fine speech, and so did Bill. Carroll would take Bill if they could get him. Tell Mrs. Arp to wrap him up; we will take him; to put two papers around him and then put him in a paper sack, for it might rain.

Gone to His Post.

Mr. Alton Angier, southwestern passenger agent of the great Kennesaw route, will leave this afternoon via Chattanooga and the great all-rail route for Dallas, Texas, his headquarters hereafter as agent for this line.

THE WAY OF ERROR.

AND THE DUPES WHO WALK THEREIN.

The Second Trial of Marshal Burrough in Bartow County—The Freak of a Crazy Young Woman in Pennsylvania—A Revolting Case of Miscegenation.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

CARTERSVILLE, August 7.—The trial of John T. Burrough for the killing of Thompson Morris at Kingston on the 23d of May last has been in progress in the superior court of Bartow county since Monday, with Hon. C. D. McCutchen on the bench. It will be remembered that the defendant was tried only a few days since for the killing of Joseph Morris, which occurred on the same day, in May, and that the jury, after hearing the evidence and argument returned a verdict of not guilty. This was thought to be the worst case, and for that reason it was tried first, so that in the event that a conviction followed the other case would not necessarily have to be tried.

As soon as the defendant was acquitted he demanded a hearing in the other case. The prosecution made a motion to continue, which motion, however, was overruled by the court, and the case announced to be called on Monday last. On that day it was taken up, and by evening a jury was sworn and empanelled. During Tuesday and Wednesday the evidence was given in, which, in substance, detailed the origin of the difficulty and the details of the shooting, which have already been published in THE CONSTITUTION, in connection with the trial of the defendant for the killing of Joseph Morris, brother of Thompson Morris.

The evidence being concluded Wednesday the argument commenced this morning. Mr. John L. Moon and General William Phillips, of Marietta, argued the case upon the part of the state, and Colonel Abda Johnson and Hon. A. T. Akerman argued the cause in behalf of the defendant.

The case will be given to the jury to-night and a verdict may be looked for some time to-morrow. During the trial the courtroom has been crowded, and considerable interest has been manifested on both sides. The defendant took in the situation quietly and seemed to be feeling quite hopeful.

The deceased brothers are cousins of the Moons of this place, one of the best families of north Georgia, the members of which are well liked by every one who know them.

READING, PENN., August 7.—The strange fasting of Miss Sarah Root, aged twenty-eight, of this city, is attracting unusual attention, not only among the medical fraternity. She is a tall young lady, with dark hair and eyes, and of excellent character. A few years ago Miss Root was an acknowledged belle. She dressed in exceeding good taste, and always made a very fashionable appearance. Suddenly she became very devout and pious. Her attendance at Rev. Dr. Schowacken's St. James Lutheran congregation was almost constant. She became deeply interested in Sunday-school affairs, and up to last fourth of July was in good health. She the discontinued eating and commenced a long period of fasting. From July 4th to the 11th she ate but a few things. Then she stopped eating altogether.

On the 14th of July Dr. T. R. Schmucker was called in. Miss Root turned her back and said she was not in need of his professional attention. She persistently refused to take any nourishment, and throughout all the hot spell she drank no water. Finally she was threatened that food would be administered to her by force. She was growing pale, thin and emaciated. Her former rosy cheeks had faded, the sparkle had left her eyes, and she became moody, thoughtful and silent. She became frightened at the doctor's threat and taking an ordinary cracker she held it under the hydrant and thoroughly washed it. On the 18th of July she ate that cracker, but took no other nourishment.

Dr. Schmucker undertook to convince her that it was her religious duty to eat, and not kill herself; that instead of it being her religious duty to fast, she was slowly committing the great crime of suicide. She paid no attention to this. Basin after basin of water was used in bathing her hands. First she filled a basin of pure water and washed her hands; then she would empty it, get another basinful and again wash her hands. She would continue this washing for a half hour.

She has been known to have spent five hours on her knees reading the Bible and praying. She had a dream to "fast forty days and forty nights, the same as Christ did in the wilderness," she said.

All the efforts of her mother and sister failed to induce her to eat and drink. Finally, Dr. Schmucker says, he stopped calling on her, because he could do nothing. Dr. Martin Luther was next called in. Miss Root was very weak, but still able to be about. She persistently refused to eat or drink, and her people thought she was dying. It was finally resolved to resort to force in the matter, and a spoon was inserted in her mouth between her teeth. Nothing could be done, because she would not swallow. When her nostrils were held shut, she breathed through the interstices of her teeth, but would not swallow. Finally Dr. Luther inserted a silver tube through her nostrils and injected gruel and milk into the gullet, and thence into the stomach. Only a small quantity was injected. The membranous lining of the stomach was greatly inflamed, and too much food administered would have killed her instantly.

The young woman is now being kept alive by forcing food through her nostrils into her stomach. She is laboring under a religious hallucination, and fears are entertained that she cannot long live. She is said to be quite intelligent, and she has no fears, saying that she guesses it will end all right. To-day she made no resistance to the tube being inserted in her nose, but she positively refused to take any food or water.

WYTHEVILLE, August 7.—No little excitement has been created here to-day by the trial of Betsy Grubb, a pretty and highly respectable girl aged 23, on the charge of miscegenation. Some months ago she became infatuated with Ken Grubb, a negro. She left her father's family and went to live with Grubb in his rough log cabin. They lived together until last week, when, being threatened with arrest for unlawful cohabitation, they took the next train and went to Blountville, Tenn., where they were legally married, and returned to this place to-day. They were arrested on the charge of miscegenation, and subsequently Betsy's father swore out a warrant against Ken Grubb, charging him with inducing his daughter. Ken was taken to jail to await the action of the grand jury. In the court-room the girl made a most disgusting exhibition of her love for her negro husband, and threw her arms around him and kissed him, and declared she would never leave him. She had to be separated from him by force, and when her father and brother carried her home she heaped blows and curses upon them. She belongs to a respectable family.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, MO., August 5.—One of those appalling tragedies which shock mankind and make one lose faith in human nature occurred near Gordonville, this county, about 3 o'clock this morning.

Sam Mussbaum, an old citizen, formerly partner in the Floral mills, this city, had been here some time for medical treatment, and yesterday he was seen to draw $3,000 from it Sturdivant's bank and then start for home.

This morning at 3 o'clock the family were aroused by a noise. Getting up they found Mrs. Mussbaum with her throat cut trying to get into the room. Going to her room they found Mr. Mussbaum with his throat and wrist cut. It is thought the lady will recover, but the man will not. Domestic trouble and ill health, it is thought, caused the old man to take his life, after first attempting that of his wife. There are some, however, who are not willing to accept this theory.

MONTREAL, August 7.—A terrible calamity has overtaken an entire family of French Canadian farmers, residents of St. Martin's, near the junction, which has already caused the death of three persons, and, it is feared, will result in the death of the whole seven of them. Farmers here are in the habit of using Paris green in the slaughter of the potato bug, and in many cases are very careless in its use. The present case would seem to be one in point. The family of Joseph Monette sat down to supper at a little before seven o'clock, and enjoyed their repast as usual, except that the bread seemed to have a nauseous taste. Shortly after eating their supper one after another were taken sick, and soon the violent spasms incident to poisoning were experienced by them. Joseph, the father, was the first to feel the effects of the poisoning, and medical aid was summoned as quickly as possible, but it seemed that the poison had been partaken of in quantity so large that the other parties were soon beyond the reach of medical help.

It is impossible to obtain the correct version of the affair, owing to the whole party having been prostrated, but the story is that the Paris green had been placed upon a paper and was opened loosely upon the table. A seven-pound loaf of bread, newly baked, had been placed upon the poison unnoticed, and the moisture in the bread having absorbed a large quantity of the deadly powder it was cut up and placed before the hungry men.

The scene in the residence of the poisoned family is described as heartrending, the groans and cries of the sufferers being heard at a long distance and causing the utmost consternation amid the other inhabitants of the village. The names of the other two victims are given as Francois Xavier and Jules Monette, sons of the farmer. The names of the other four who are expected to die could not be obtained this evening, and further particulars of the sad affair cannot be had. The coroner will hold an inquest in the evening.

DANIELSONVILLE, CONN., August 7.—This town, Killingly, was the scene of an attempted murder closely resembling the Manning wife murder of last spring, which occurred about two miles below on the same street. The would-be murderer, Ziba Studley, lives with his wife in East Killingly, and is considered mentally below par. Taking advantage of his weakness, certain young men of the neighborhood have filled his head with stories reflecting upon the virtue of his wife, which, however, are believed to be wholly untrue. He came from work with a fresh supply of rumors, and quarrelled with his wife all the evening, retiring late at night. About four o'clock in the morning he got up, and, taking a billet of wood, struck his wife several blows upon her head as she lay sleeping. He then ran to the mill pond near by and jumped into the water.

The neighbors were aroused, and after attending to Mrs. Studley, who was unconscious, began to search for the murderer. The pond was dragged and the search continued during the day without avail, the supposition being that he was drowned. About 10 o'clock at night, however, he made his appearance at the house. It appears that the water cooled his suicidal intentions so much that he abandoned the idea, swam ashore, climbed a tree and watched the search for his body during the day. He was arrested and brought this morning before Justice Hutchins, of Danielsonville, and sent him to jail to await the result of Mrs. Studley's injuries. An examination by Dr. L. A. Hill showed several severe scalp wounds and a fracture of the skull in the frontal section of her head.

HALIFAX, August 7.—The wreck of the steamer Burgas in St. Mary's bay, Newfoundland, created much discussion in the local papers. The Burgas struck on rocks in Mariner's Cove in a dense fog on July 14th. The captain engaged the help of fishermen, and was busy saving the cargo, when more than forty large boats appeared, containing three or four hundred men, who boarded the wrecked ship, in spite of protests, and began carrying off the cargo. They cleared the decks of the wheat and everything else portable, including four hundred sheep, and then left. Through the exertions of local authorities three schooner loads of the stolen property were recovered, and other small lots have since been given up, but most of it is still in the hands of the marauders.

QUINCY, ILL., August 7.—The boiler of the Newcomb paper mill, on Front street, exploded this morning, demolishing the engine-house and creating havoc generally. Three men were badly hurt.

MONCTON, N. B., August 7.—A fearful hurricane passed over Buclash river and vicinity last night, doing much damage, carrying away a large bridge, the tower of the Catholic school and destroying eighty buildings. Three people were killed and many badly injured.

FRANKLIN, TENN., August 7.—A negro was arrested at the barber shop of John Tompkins, colored, on Main street, charged with breaking into the houses of Dr. Shannon and Colonel Green at Nolensville, Sunday night. He was seen about Nolensville on Sunday and was looked upon as a suspicious character; and the suspicion was strengthened by his showing another negro a gold quarter eagle that had been lost by Shannon. He was traced to Franklin by Constable F. M. Denny, who, with Deputy Sheriff John Nevils, followed him in the barber shop. When found the negro held in his hand a pocket-knife. Nevils laid his hand upon his arm, telling him that he was his prisoner, and must put up his knife. The negro closed his knife, put it into his pocket and quickly drew a Smith & Wesson pistol, which he attempted to fire, but his pistol failed to go off. This was due to the fact that it was the latest style of the pattern above mentioned, which is central fire, and he had placed two cartridges in the cylinder; as it happened, these were the two upon which the hammer fell. Constable Denny, seeing the negro preparing for war, drew his pistol and sent a ball through the muscle of his right arm above the elbow. He was then overpowered and put in jail to await a preliminary trial. He gave his name as R. C. Smith, and said he was from Charleston. He had a pocket-book containing between forty and fifty dollars, in which there was also a kind of diary showing extensive travels in Kentucky and Tennessee. Smith is of stout build, about five feet ten or eleven inches high, and twenty-four or twenty-five years old.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

PUBLISHED DAILY EXCEPT MONDAYS

THE CONSTITUTION BUILDING, ATLANTA.

DELIVERED in the city of Atlanta for One Dollar per month.

MAIL SUBSCRIBERS, postage free, $10.00 a year, or $1.00 a month.

THE DAILY edition contains fuller and fresher intelligence from all parts of the world than any other Georgia paper. Its news columns and correspondence are the most varied and its telegraphic service the most complete. Its circulation extends all over Georgia and into neighboring states, and its editorial opinions and comments are more widely quoted than any other southern newspaper.

CORRESPONDENCE containing important news solicited from any part of the country.

THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTION.

Four pages, thirty-six long columns—Published every Tuesday morning.

TERMS PER ANNUM, postage free, one copy $1.50; six months, $1.00; ten copies one year, $12.50; twenty copies, $20.00.

THE CIRCULATION OF THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTION will compare more than favorably with that of any other weekly in the south. It is the cheapest paper of its class in Georgia, is carefully edited and contains, in compact form, the cream of the Daily. Among its attractions are original stories by the best southern writers, the latest news and market reports, elaborately prepared articles on agricultural matters, timely editorials, comments upon current events, crisp, sparkling and pungent paragraphs, and choice selections in prose and poetry.

AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM, THE CONSTITUTION offers, within its field, unrivaled advantages. The Daily edition has many more readers and subscribers in Georgia than any other newspaper, while its aggregate circulation is considerably larger than that of any other daily journal in the state.

All letters and telegrams must be addressed to THE CONSTITUTION, ATLANTA.

The Constitution.

ATLANTA, GA., AUGUST 8, 1879.

GOVERNOR COLQUITT has offered a reward of $250 for the arrest of the parties who recently released the prisoners from Laurens county jail.

REPORTS from Maine show that the democrats and greenbackers are united on their tickets for members of the legislature, and will have an overwhelming majority in that body.

THE difficulty between the Grant men and the Shermanites in Louisiana has had the effect of recalling John to his Jenks in Washington, and since his return to his desk he has been in close conference with politicians from that state.

IT is in evidence before the court of inquiry, according to good authority, that Zachary Chandler bribed a witness to swear falsely in relation to certain facts affecting General Fitz-John Porter. The witness swore as Chandler desired before the court-martial, but when the court of inquiry took him in hand he recanted and made a full confession. All of which will be looked after by congress.

THE Cincinnati Enquirer has canvassed every county in Ohio in order to get at the precise attitude of the nationals. The inference to be drawn from the interviews of the leading members of that party is that Piatt, the greenback candidate, will get less than half the votes of his party, while the most of it will go to Ewing. The greenback organization will be broken up, but the men who are really in earnest prefer to vote for a democrat rather than indirectly support the Sherman-Foster influence by voting for Piatt. With more than half of the greenbackers in his favor, the success of General Ewing seems certain.

THE national board of health (composed of a secretary, a number of clerks and a nice young man to send dispatches to the associated press) is a complete and unmitigated humbug. Casey Young, who brought the board into existence, attempted to have a few samples of disintectants analyzed, but there was no one on the board competent to make the analysis, although the young fellow in charge was extremely anxious to discuss the political situation in Ohio. This concern makes way with the people's money at the rate of $30,000 a month, and should be abolished. Those who are running the affair and drawing the people's money know and care as little about sanitary matters as they do about the temperature of the planet Jupiter.

TYNER, whose notoriety as a cipher dispatch thief is still fresh, has recently, if rumor is correct, been engaged in some swindling operations which should attract the attention of congress. Tyner is the real head of the post office department, and last year, under pretence of representing the United States in the international postal union which assembled in Switzerland, appointed himself a delegate and hurried off to Europe. Instead of attending the postal union he went to Paris, enjoyed the sights, returned home and drew $1,000 as expenses. Lately he has been junketing along the Pacific coast under pretence of inspecting the registered letter service, but really to meet Grant. He had in his train quite a number of officials and their families. The expenses of this trip will have to be made by the people.

FIND us a healthy New York democrat and ten to one we will be able to show you the only statesman and patriot outside of Delaware. There is Senator Kernan, for instance. It was the purpose of the committee of which Senator Wallace is chairman to investigate the charges made against Johnny Davenport, and to that end the full committee, with one exception, have been in New York for several days, ready to go on with the investigation. That exception is Senator Kernan. He was placed upon the committee for the reason that his state has heretofore been supposed to be very deeply interested in the investigation which the committee has in hand. And yet, when the time comes, the New York senator is absent, and his absence is unexplained. In view of this, the committee have very properly concluded not to go on with the investigation, and it will probably be postponed until next November.

Give the Names.

The following we find in the Columbus Times:

The correspondent of the Augusta Evening News, writing of matters and things at the capital says that certain newspaper men of Atlanta and elsewhere are thrown into a flurry by the production before the committee of Goldsmith's checks, make insinuations against the Atlanta innocents hurriedly applied to the committee for the privilege of appearing before them and explaining the nature of the transactions of which the checks were evidences. But the committee thought they would not need the additional sight, and went on with their work. Can it be possible that the Atlanta press, the watchmen that are supposed to stand on the tower to give warning to the people of danger has been tampered with? Truly we hope not. The people cannot expect the press to throw stones at the guilty when its own skirts are not clean. We may hear and say more about this when further developments are made.

The article in the Evening News, upon which our Columbus contemporary bases its exceedingly timely and well-considered remarks, escaped us, otherwise this matter would have had our attention earlier. We desire to know what newspaper men of Atlanta have been thrown into a flurry by the production of checks before the investigating committee.

Who are the newspaper men to whom the checks were made payable? Why not let their names be forthcoming? In our opinion it would have been better if the correspondent of the News had boldly given names instead of making a mystery of the matter. Let us have the names and the facts.

The Cotton Caterpillar.

Professor J. E. Willett, the distinguish entomologist, has written to a friend in southwest Georgia expressing his fears that the cotton caterpillar may make its appearance in that section should the present damp and cloudy weather, which is highly favorable to their production and propagation, continue. It is reported upon reliable authority that they have made their appearance near the Florida line, and they may make their appearance in higher latitudes at any time. In view of this, Professor Willett suggests, if they do make their appearance in such numbers, or under such circumstances as to create fears of the second brood, that the caterpillars themselves be poisoned, and points out that this may be done more easily upon their first appearance than at any other time, for the reason that they may be found only in patches of the most tender and luxuriant cotton. In dealing with them at this stage, the professor recommends a poison to be manipulated as follows: Flour, twenty pounds; slippery elm bark powder, one pound; rosin, two pounds; Paris green, one pound; arsenic, one pound—total, twenty-five pounds. The proportions, he says, should be thoroughly mixed, ground and sifted, and put on the cotton at the rate of fifteen to twenty-five pounds to the acre. A druggist can compound it at probably five cents a pound. It is applied by being placed in a small hand sieve, tin sides, wire bottom, size 8x12 inches, two inches deep, with a long handle at one side. It is held over the row, and the handle jarred by the hand or a stick—applied best when the dew is on. The slippery elm and rosin are to make it stick to the leaves; the worm entering the leaves eats also the adhering poison and dies. In view of the fact that the caterpillar of one brood is multiplied by two hundred in the next, Professor Willett thinks there is more hope in killing the first and second brood than in trying to cope with the third. It is to be hoped that these pests will not make their appearance in Georgia, but if they do, they should be dealt with promptly.

Some Political Phenomena.

Our esteemed contemporary, the Philadelphia Times, in making a very seasonable and well-considered protest against the sort of campaign literature ground out by such fellows as those who have control of the Okolona States and the Lemars Sentinel, goes so far as to say that there is a streak of knavishness, so to speak, in those who manifest a disposition to use the mouthings of either of these uneasy idiots for political effect. To a certain extent this is no doubt true, but at the same time our always thoughtful contemporary must perceive that a marked distinction is to be drawn between the motives that govern the actions of these incomparable ranters. In considering this question we are perfectly willing to give the man of Okolona credit for sincerity, though, in comparing the effusions of the two, the palm in this respect must be unquestionably given to the Iowa writer. We are willing even to admit that there are people in Mississippi who sympathize with the views of Harper and Kernan, for since the remarkable outbreak in Yazoo county, we are willing to believe that the entire state is overrun with a parcel of insane and unscrupulous politicians. But, admitting all these things, it must be apparent to every man in the country whose views and observations are worth anything—as it certainly is apparent to the editor of the Philadelphia Times—that so far as the south is concerned, secession is the deadest of all the dead issues of the past; dead and buried beyond all hope of resurrection. We may go even beyond this and say that if the issue, with the full consent and approval of the people of the north, could be presented to the people of the south to-morrow, we believe they would vote overwhelmingly in favor of the union; indeed we are sure of it. To be sure, we are neither reconstructed nor loyal within the meaning of those terms as used by republicans. We are not only not loyal to their corrupt organization, but we are solidly opposed to it, and that fact is sufficient to perpetuate the "rebellion" with which the republican organs and speakers are continually frightening the people of the north; and for that matter, even northern democrats are stigmatized as copperheads and rebel sympathizers. Howbeit, the particular point we desire to impress upon the minds of the more thoughtful and conservative people who were opposed to the south during the war, is this: That there is now, and always has been, throughout the south a deep and strong union sentiment—a profound attachment for the union of the states under the constitution. Under these circumstances, the ravings of the Okolona fellow, however sincere they may be, are worse than a mockery.

But can the same be said of the writings and teachings of such men as the editor of the Iowa paper? Are they not precisely in the direction mapped out by such leaders as Conkling, Chandler, Sherman, Garfield and Conger? Are not his conclusions foreshadowed in the recent veto messages of Mr. Hayes and in the tone of such newspapers as the New York Tribune, the Chicago Tribune and other journals of lesser influence but of no less ability? We make these inquiries seriously. To charge that the south is tending toward secession is to be guilty of a monstrous piece of partisan folly; but is it folly to inquire if the doctrines enunciated by the Iowa stalwart are not the logical outcome of the position assumed by the republicans? Is the difference between the teachings of the New York Tribune and the demands of the Lemars Sentinel too wide to admit of a legitimate comparison? "Wipe out state lines!" shrieks the Sentinel; "Down with state rights!" the Tribune cries. Our quotations are literal and not garbled. Is there any material difference in the demands of the two papers—one a widely-circulated and influential organ of stalwartism and the other an obscure weekly in Iowa? Will some logician tell us wherein the positions of the two organs differ? The rights of the states can only be destroyed by the obliteration of state lines.

—But perhaps our esteemed Philadelphia contemporary, having a wholesome regard for all that is just, and fair, and reasonable in politics as in other things, would object to making campaign material of the utterances of the Tribune. So be it. We have no time to pester ourselves with the fastidious assortment of these niceties of controversy. We only know that the people should put themselves upon the defensive.

The State University.

We feel sure that every good citizen of the state will rejoice with THE CONSTITUTION at the good report that is made this morning from the university of Georgia. This grand old institution has given to the state, with wonderful unanimity, the men that have made her history illustrious and her name honored throughout the republic. She gave us Robert Toombs, Alex. Stephens, Ben. Hill, John B. Gordon, Bishop Pierce, Herschel V. Johnson, Charles J. Jenkins, Howell Cobb, Thomas R. R. Cobb, Wm. H. Felton, Martin J. Crawford, and hundreds of the younger men who are coming on to fill the places of these, such as President Lester, Speaker Bacon, Emory Speer, Albert Cox, Allen Fort, Senator Grimes, Pratt Adams, Reese Crawford, Ben. Hill, jr., Meldrim, Dessau, Walter Hill, Davis, Walters, Gray and the like. A score of her sons are in the houses of her legislature, and the others, wherever they are found, stand at the head of their professions, and nobly illustrate their alma mater.

The state should be grateful to the old university, and should foster it with liberal patronage. We cannot conceive any reason for a father sending his son to a college outside of Georgia. The curriculum at Athens is as full and thorough as that of any other university—the standard of scholarship is as high, the discipline is as fine, the general advantages as varied and as valuable. Besides all this, by getting his education in Georgia the young man establishes a fellowship with foremost young men all over the state, and starts in life backed by a corps of friends that are of inestimable advantage to him. This sense of comradeship, both as a sentiment and a practical help, is worth absolutely more than the discipline and acquirements of the college course itself.

The university of Georgia ought to have a thousand students, and it can have them if its friends will try to get them.

SHERMAN'S boom is in that condition now that it has to be assiduously nursed at both ends and in the middle.

THE disappearance of the Hon. Abraham Hewitt has become chronic. He is the Charlie Ross of the democratic party.

THE esteemed Washington Post has lately developed a tendency to deal familiarly—nay, even jocularly—with the venerated name of the venerable editor of the Washington Republican. We shall not rebuke this playfulness, for the reason that it would do no good.

IF John Sherman had remained in Washington, where the people pay him to stay, the country would never have known that Madame Jenks is not the model letter-writer she claimed to be before the Potter committee.

WE hear nothing lately of old man Shellbark, who was John Sherman's attorney during the fraud investigation. Can he be nursing a boom of his own?

THE republicans are gradually discovering that the Glover report is longer and more acrid than they at first supposed. Consequently the organs are handling it with extreme caution. There is no flavoring extract known to republican chemists that will allay the gall in this report.

LUCY STONE refuses to vote because the law can only recognize her as Mrs. Blackwell. And, by the by, now that we have dropped upon this subject, where is old man Blackwell himself, and what does he mean by hiding in the kitchen while Lucy is beating a bass drum in the parlor?

A BLACK spot recently discovered upon Jupiter is causing much speculation among star-gazers. It is regarded as evidence of a republican caucus.

WHAT does the governor of Mississippi propose to do about it?

MISSISSIPPI would appear to be a good state for both blacks and whites to emigrate from.

SENATOR LAMAR ought to go home and reason with his friends and fellow-citizens. A few more examples of bulldozing as shameless and as revolting as that in Yazoo county will lose the country to the democrats in 1880.

—A sea serpent of the conventional size and general attitudes has been seen in Johnson's pond, in the middle of Ohio. The sea serpent has his habitat everywhere. He can be seen in a cistern if the spectator is in a proper state of mind, and there is no scientific deduction against his being discovered up a tree.

—Telifero won five dollars from Moore in a game of poker at Morton's Gap, Ky., and Moore, when they next met, demanded a chance to get back the money, but Telifero said: "No; I know when to stop;" upon which Moore retorted: "Then, this is a good time for you to stop living," and killed him with a knife.

—"Tell me," he said to the doctor, "tell me frankly is there any hope?" "Yes, sir, a great deal. The statistics show that out of every hundred affected with your disease recovers." "Well?" "You are the hundredth I have treated for the malady, and I have not cured one of them."

"There," said the shopman, pointing to a beautiful epergne, "there's a fine centerpiece." "Cent apiece?" gasped old Mrs. Bagster, who stood near; "cent apiece? You may wrap up two of them for me, if you please, Mr. Smith"—adding, soto voce: "I'd no idee them things was so cheap." Exchange.

—Mr. Sherman is not only running his canvass from the treasury department with the public funds, and levying assessments on his subordinates, but he is using the whole fraudulent administration (Hayes included), with all its patronage, to push his plans. What that gang lacks in consistency it makes up in hypocrisy.—Utica Observer.

—The Pittsburg Commercial-Gazette begins to be afraid that so many Pennsylvanians are being presented to the English mission that it may cut us off altogether. It understands that one of the advantages of what is called the political machine is that it saves the president from the indiscriminate rush of friends of gentlemen fitted for high positions.

—The strong point of Mr. Gladstone's government was finance. While in office he remitted taxes to the amount of £13,000,000, reduced the national debt by over £26,000,000, and left his successor a surplus of several millions. Lord Beaconsfield, on the other hand, has imposed taxes to the amount of £5,233,000 over the amount remitted, and created a deficit (not including the Zulu account) of £4,250,000.

The Editorial Symposium.

Elberton Gazette.

The poor old Georgia code will never be recognized by half its former acquaintances if a fourth of the proposed amendments are passed.

Newnan Leader.

There is too much killing going on in Georgia, and we think it best to go to hanging some of these cold, bloody murderers, and see if the killing department of this country can't be stopped.

Marietta Journal.

The new constitution is considered one of the most difficult machines to adjust and put in motion ever known to the skill of our law-makers.

Marietta Journal.

Last week we had an article inveighing against the press prematurely committing themselves for some favorite candidate for governor. We were glad to notice that THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION of last Sunday had an able editorial on this subject, taking the same view. It was well-timed, and we trust the press generally will see the importance of refraining from committing themselves so far in advance of the election.

Butler Herald.

The state has been amply repaid for all the cost of the geological bureau and this while in its infancy. What then may we not expect from its work when it has been fairly equipped and started out fully prepared to do the work which lies awaiting it? The abolition of this bureau was a step in the wrong direction and we call upon the general assembly to repair the wrong which has been done the people of our state.

Marietta Journal.

It can be clearly seen now why Goldsmith was not content with the vindication of the wild land committee, and desired a clearer and stronger piece of writing to place him above the wrongdoing that he knew ultimately would be disclosed, and which these articles of impeachment have brought to light. The action of Wright and the anxiety of Goldsmith work in harness together like match horses.

Athens Banner.

As these small men have utterly failed to find any corruption or wickedness in the governor, upon which to base their warfare against him, we suppose now they will demonstrate the character of their warfare, and the highest characteristics of their natures, by attacking his moral and religious character. Let all such remember that in such efforts to gratify their personal and political animosities, they not only do gross injustice to a good, pure and innocent man, but are doing great damage to the fair fame and high character of Georgia. And then let them further remember, that in such a wanton, wicked, and baseless warfare, they will at last find that they will be the only ones to suffer.

Macon Telegraph.

What our picayunish Solons at Atlanta failed to do for the commonwealth has been bravely undertaken to the full extent of their ability, by the patriotic trustees of the university of Georgia. As the opinion begins to take shape that the labors of the general assembly will be protracted until winter, perhaps some of the prudent members are fearful that appropriations like those asked for by Dahlonega and Milledgeville, might endanger the long tale of their own per diem, hence this excessive economy. These remarks do not apply, however, to a very large portion of the general assembly, but only to those who can see no good in a state board of health, geological surveys, an agricultural bureau, dog laws, or rebuilding burnt colleges, albeit belonging to the state. To endeavor to enlighten statesmen of this class and calibre, is "love's labor lost." But the action of the managers of our revered state university will prove most salutary to every section of the state, north, east, south and west.

Dalton Citizen.

The war upon Governor Colquitt has assumed a phase of ridiculousness. When the whole body of the legislature has investigated his conduct and unconditionally exonerated him from all impurity of conduct whatever, it seems strange that a single editor should sit in judgment upon him and publicly pronounce him guilty. This particularly characterizes some so-called independent papers who are continually finding out and uncovering rotteness and corruption, but never discovering anything good in Nazareth. Indeed, they are, the most of them, still fighting over the old campaigns of last year, and cry, "Wolf! wolf!" when there is no wolf. And this is not all. They seek the plaudits of the multitude by strong words of censure for nearly every public man with whom they are acquainted. To be brief, this is not the time to make or unmake governors.

Columbus Enquirer-Sun.

Instead of the legislature bending its energies to accomplish some great end and worthy purpose, the members are continually piddling about common place, trivial, paltry saving dollars they will talk all day about a few cents and expend hundreds per day to save a nickel or two. We think they have had lessons enough in such pitiable stinginess. We believe in paying good salaries: our public officers that are honest deserve good salaries, and by getting them probity is advanced. The country has furnished sufficient teaching. Whenever a system of rigid economy is advocated, it is never to cut down the pay of our patriotic legislators, but they attack little printing bills and things of no moment, the saving of which are overbalanced by the time wasted on them. In county advertising especially, circulation should be taken into account as of paramount importance than the hoarding of a few cents per annum. It should be placed where the people can read it, and not several individuals.

Gwinnett Herald.

We hope Mr. Goldsmith will be able to show that he is not guilty of these grave charges. We have always regarded him as an honest man and faithful officer, but the people demand a rigid, fearless, exhaustive inquiry and a stern discharge of duty, no matter who may suffer. It does seem that it is difficult for men to handle public money these days without some of it sticking to their fingers, and there is no protection to a heavily taxed people but the certainty that they will be held to a strict account. There are intimations afloat that there is crookedness in some of the other departments of the state government. We trust for the honor of the state and the democratic party that no guilty man will be allowed to escape. It is no reproach to either the state or party that dishonest officials occasionally creep into high places, but the reproach and just odium comes when crime is cloaked, and corruption whitewashed. Let justice be done—justice to the accused and justice to the people.

Too Late.

New York Herald.

What we blame in the republican leaders is that they reject the alliance of those who hold with them in the south on most of the real questions of the day, and whom they could easily influence and control on others if they would make them allies. They prefer a factious sectional policy, dangerous to the peace of the country, hindering to its prosperity, constantly reviving sectional animosities and perpetuating disturbance. This course is so unwise and uncalled for that if it is persisted in they need not wonder if it shall alienate from them the support of large numbers of northern voters next year, quite enough to secure their defeat.

Out in the Cold.

Washington Post.

We feel authorized to file the prediction that not a single southern democratic senator, nor a northern friend of the southern democracy, will vote to put the judicial ermine on Mr. McCrary after an attentive perusal of the report of the military committee of the senate in relation to the confederate burying ground at Camp Chase. We know of no democratic senator who would care to face his constituents with that record in one hand and the report of his vote for the confirmation of McCrary in the other.

A Louisiana Incident.

New York Sun.

Mr. Thompson is a colored citizen of Louisiana. The other night two white men stole his horse. Instead of sitting down under his loss, or writing to a republican congressman, or emigrating to Kansas, Mr. Thompson got some of his colored neighbors together, trailed the thieves, ambushed them, shot one of them dead, and got back his horse. When he and his neighbors were arrested for the killing, the judge, a white democrat, promptly discharged them. And all this happened in Louisiana!

Their Revenge.

Chicago Tribune.

Powers & Weightman, the Philadelphia quinine monopolists, have not yet conveyed their dreadful threat into execution to close up their manufactory, discharge their fifty employes, out of spite for the repeal of the tax on medicinal liquors, and stop raking in their millions of profits. No, they have not stopped their works, but they have advanced the price of their sulphate of quinine on the fever and ague stricken classes as a punishment for wishing to get the drug cheaper.

The Tone and the Odor.

Washington Post.

A correspondent who proposes to speak by the card states that Mr. Hayes is seriously considering what he shall next do "to improve the tone of the civil service." We don't know much about the "tone," but the odor of the civil service could undoubtedly be improved by a liberal application of carbolic acid or a profusion of chloride of lime.

"Honest" John.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

The convenient absence of John Sherman and other cabinet officers from Washington gives the republican party assessors a fine chance in the departments and the government printing office. When John returns he will be very indignant at what has transpired in his absence, but he will not be likely to remove the general Robinson's agents to return the money they have collected.

A Convenient Epithet.

Milwaukee Sun.

The editor of the Northwestern Miller, published at Minneapolis, in a controversy with the editor of a contemporary, says: "We wish to middle insinuate that the aforesaid Cawker is a native of Louisiana." That is an improvement on the old plan of calling a man a liar. This new epithet calls a man a liar and a thief in very few words. Every year our language is becoming more simplified.

She Gave Herself Away.

Philadelphia Times.

Mrs. Agnes Jenks is writing letters enough now in bad English and distressingly eccentric in orthography to prove beyond a doubt that she told an awful story when she said she wrote the Sherman-Anderson letter. To use the felicitous style which Mrs. Jenks has made her own, the thoughtless woman has given herself away.

A Good Handle and a Long One.

Springfield Republican.

Secretary Sherman is giving the silver men a good handle for criticising his policy as to the silver dollar by letting the amount of silver coinage for the first month fall below the legal minimum. Silver coinage may be a bad thing; disregarding statute law unquestionably is.

An Important Question.

Vicksburg Herald, dem.

With what face can we support our party, that demands there shall be no military supervision of elections, if the democratic party of Mississippi permits the Yazoo affair and others like it to go unrebuked?

Prodding Versus Banging.

Cleveland Herald.

Benjamin Franklin-Butler is not making any noise nowadays, but he is by no means idle. There is not so much bang and roar of artillery in his present plan of campaign, but there is a deal of silent assegaing.

We Prefer the Germs.

New York Star.

If the people of the south really believe that concussion kills the yellow fever germs, we should think they would engage Senator Logan to deliver a few open air speeches in the infected districts.

Silver Threads Among the Gold.

Cleveland Herald.

The last echo of the Grant boom will be lost in the crash of the fight in Ohio this fall. The Grant boom has grown old and feeble lately faster than any boom on the carpet.

An Accomplished Man.

Chicago Times.

The loss of Stoughton to the diplomacy of the United States is greatly to be deplored. He had a beautiful head of hair.

The Mulligan Guard.

Boston Herald.

Mr. Blaine's substitute rose to be a sergeant, but the senator is contented to remain an humble corporal in the Mulligan Guards.

Under the Guns.

Bret Harte, in London Society.

Under the guns of the fort on the hill
Daisies are blossoming, buttercups fill;
Up the gray ramparts the scaling vine clings.
High its green ladders, and falters and clings
Under the guns,
Under the guns,
Under the guns of the fort on the hill.

Under the guns of the fort on the hill
Once shook the earth with the cannonade's thrill,
Once trod these buttercups feet that, now still,
Lie all at rest in their trench by the mill.
Under the guns,
Under the guns,
Under the guns of the fort on the hill.

Under the guns of the fort on the hill
Equal the rain falls on good and ill.
Soft lies the sunshine—still the brook runs,
Still toils the husbandman—under the guns,
Under the guns,
Under the guns,
Under the guns of the fort on the hill.

Under the guns of Thy fort on the hill,
Lord! in Thy mercy we pray that Thy will;
Lord, is it war that Thy wisdom best knows,
Lord, is it peace that thy goodness still shows
Under the guns,
Under the guns,
Under the guns of Thy fort on the hill.

REMEDIES

Have achieved the most noted success of any Medicines of Modern Times.

Messrs. Weeks & Potter have never doubted the specific properties of CUTICURA, CUTICURA RESOLVENT and CUTICURA SOAP, for the speedy, permanent and economical cure of Humors of the Blood, Skin and Scalp. They are, however, astonished at their universal success; for it was to be expected that in the hands of some they would fail solely from spasmodic or ignorant use of them.

They are enabled to say, without fear of contradiction, that no remedies ever achieved in the short space of one year the number of wonderful cures performed by the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

SALT RHEUM,

Covering the Body for Ten Years, Permanently Cured.

LAW OFFICE OF CHAS. HOUGHTON,
17 Congress street, Boston, Feb. 28, 1878.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen—I feel it a duty to inform you, and through you all those who are interested to know the fact, that a most disagreeable and obstinate case of Salt Rheum or Eczema, which has been under my personal observation from its first appearance to the present time—about ten (10) years—covering the greater portion of the patient's body and limbs, with its peculiar irritating and itching scab, and to which all the known methods of treating such disease had been applied without benefit, has completely disappeared, leaving a clean and healthy skin, under a few days or profuse application of CUTICURA.

I can and do heartily advise all similarly afflicted to try the remedy which has been so effectual in this case. Very truly yours,

CHAS. HOUGHTON.

LIVER COMPLAINT

And Dyspepsia Treated by the Resolvent, Gains 5 1-2 pounds on One Bottle.

Gentlemen: I have had Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, with running sores on the side of my neck, for ten years. Doctors did me no good. I have been spending for eight years, and it did me no good. Everything I ate distressed me. I got reduced from 179 to 132 pounds. At last I tried the RESOLVENT and it helped me right off, and on one bottle I gained five and one half pounds. It is doing the business, and I am going for it strong.

Yours truly, JOHN H. ROY.

414 Wabash ave., Chicago, Ill., Nov. 15, 1878.

NOTE.—CUTICURA is admirable assisted in cases of extreme physical weakness, or when the virus of Scrofula is known to lurk in the system, by the internal use of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, without doubt the most powerful blood purifier and liver stimulant in the world.

CUTICURA SOAP is an elegant toilet and medicinal assistant to CUTICURA in the treatment of all external ailments. For chapped hands, rough skin and tan, sunburn, and the lesser skin troubles, it is indispensable; as a soap for the toilet, the nursery and bath, it is the most elegant, refreshing, and healing before the public.

These great remedies succeed where all others heretofore in use fail because they possess new and original properties never before successfully combined in medicine.

The CUTICURA REMEDIES are prepared by WEEKS & POTTER, Chemists and Druggists, Boston, and sold by all Druggists. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes, containing two and one half times the quantity of the small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; 3 cakes, 75 cents.

PATENT MEDICINES.

THE GENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

Celebrated American

WORM SPECIFIC

OR

VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy, not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE

will certainly effect a cure.

IT DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY in any form; it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

The genuine DR. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrapper.

ROUNDABOUT IN GEORGIA.

—There are 53 Methodist churches in the Columbus district.

—The grape crop in the vicinity of Dalton is very good; vines full and fruit delicious.

—Dalton was never healthier at this season of the year.

—Turpentine is 50 cents a gallon at the Dublin distillery in Laurens county.

—Fine crops around Marietta. Propitious seasons have made corn and cotton boom.

—Fodder pulling has commenced in earnest in Sumter county.

—Only 69 marriage licenses in Muscogee county since January 1st. A majority of them were of colored people.

—The Appeal thinks there will be more corn and cotton made in Wilkinson county this year than last.

—Savannah News: Savannah is busier now than she ever was known to be before at this season of the year. Our streets are quite lively with visitors.

—Barnesville Gazette: Corn planted after the wheat crop was gathered, is growing rapidly and looking finely. It is the opinion that crops have revived wonderfully since abundant rains have fallen.

—Barnesville Gazette: Mr. W. R. Murphy, after making a splendid crop of oats on the rich patch near his home, has now a fine young crop of corn and peas on the same patch. Land thus cultivated will pay.

—Marietta Journal: The summer resorts of Georgia are worthy of the patronage of her people. Her mountain scenery is grand enough to charm the loftiest soul, and her mineral waters teem with health and vigor.

—North Georgia Citizen: Cotton in this section is looking well. It is fruiting out finely and growing rapidly since the rain, and the prospect is that the yield will be heavier than usual.

—Barnesville Gazette: Mr. M. G. Howard comes to the front with a stalk of cotton measuring four feet in height and containing forty bolls and squares. If the cotton crop of this section is to be judged by this specimen it will indeed be very good.

—Washington Gazette: The banana tree in Mrs. Cooper's front yard in this place is of very vigorous growth. One leaf on it is twenty-one inches broad at the widest point and four feet long, by actual measurement.

—Dalton Enterprise: Since the late splendid, rousing rains many of the farmers are of opinion that there will be an average yield of corn, and they no longer puzzle their heads over the bread problem.

—Dalton Enterprise: Bee culture is attracting more and more attention in this section every year. If our farmers would study the matter, conduct their apiaries upon modern principles, and work understandingly, the honey product would vastly swell their pocketbooks.

—Southern Enterprise: Thomasville shows no evidence of dull times. Improvement seems to be the order of the day. There is more building and repairing going on than for a long time past, and the sound of the mason's trowel and carpenter's hammer are becoming quite familiar.

—Gwinnett Herald: During the heavy storm last week the lightning struck in a cotton field of Terrell Higgins and killed about one-fourth of an acre of cotton. The west side of each stalk seems to be scorched. About the same time three cows were killed in Mrs. Mayfield's lot, in the same neighborhood.

—Marietta Journal: Early Friday morning last, smoke was seen issuing from the depot of the Marietta and North Georgia railroad, when Mr. George D. Phillips was aroused from sleep, and some cotton seed was discovered to be on fire. A little work soon extinguished the fire, but not before several holes were burned in the floor.

—Cartersville Free Press: We learn that a pointer dog owned by Mr. Robert Haney, of this city, caught a good sized fish out of the Etowah river one day last week. The dog was standing on the bank; seeing the fish, he made a plunge into the river and succeeded in catching the fish and bringing it to the bank.

—Marietta Journal; Mr. Thomas McEwen, of Douglas county, who had his right arm lacerated some weeks ago in a thresher in the lower part of Cobb county, refused at first to have his arm amputated, but mortification ensued and the arm was cut off. Subsequently gangrene took place, and on last Thursday night he died in great agony.

—Dalton Enterprise: When farmers shall set to work, stop wasting their time over politics, and use their endeavors in the culture of butter, stock, chickens, honey and other articles for merchantable sale, good times will come and not before. Financial legislation will not relieve people who have nothing to exchange for the currency of the country.

—Southern Enterprise: On Saturday last Mr. John Upton brought to town some limbs of cotton that were pretty thickly set with caterpillars. They appeared to be of the second crop and were working lively. We fear they will prove too numerous this season. Much of the weather of late has been favorable for their coming. In fact, appearances for a short time past have not been very encouraging for a good cotton crop.

—Cuthbert True Southern: But few know to-day the extent of grape culture and wine manufacture in Randolph county. Some years ago a few pioneers in this branch of industry tested the matter and found that there was a handsome margin for profit in the production of wine, and numbers of vineyards have sprung up in every part of the county, which are now flourishing and vigorous, turning out thousands of gallons of wine annually. These lands seem to be the home of the grape, especially the scuppernongs variety, and a good vineyard here is a fortune to its possessor.

We are forced to note these reflections, after repeated visits to the several vineyards in this county and tasting fresh from the cellars, the pure juice of the grape from three to five years old.

Last Friday we were out at the vineyards of Messrs. W. C. Hay and James A. Hay, which are near each other, and cover an aggregate area of about fifty acres, and each vineyard is still being increased. These gentlemen are well prepared for the business, they have good presses, and everything for the manufacture of wine upon improved plans. Mr. W. C. Hay now has on hand some 1,500 gallons, much of it of the vintage of 1877, and some even older than that. These wines are clear and sparkling, and will compare with the best American manufacture. The crop this year, though injured somewhat by the continued drought in the spring, is fine and promises an abundant yield.

The Storm in Buford.

BUFORD, August 7.—Our town was visited last night with a terrible thunder storm. Early in the night a heavy lowering cloud was seen in the west moving in this direction with a rapid speed. Soon the large drops began to pelt the house tops as if it was hail. In a very few minutes the entire heavens seemed to be on fire and such claps of thunder never were heard in this section. Lightning struck in five or six places inside the incorporation. It struck the shade tree in front of W. B. Haygood's house, tearing up the ground between his house and J. H. Evans, doing no damage except killing a colt for J. H. Evans. Several persons were frightened almost to death on the streets.

DeKalb Celebration.

The fourteenth annual celebration of the DeKalb County Sunday School Association takes place in Decatur on Wednesday next, the 13th instant. The annual address will be delivered by Rev. W. A. Candler, and the installation address by Judge George Hillyer. Special arrangements will be perfected for people in Atlanta to attend that day. It is a gala-day in the county, and all who go will have a day of enjoyment and pleasure.

Those Useful Conduits.

The kidneys and bladder, sometimes become torpid and weak from unascertainable causes. When this occurs, their discharging function is of necessity very imperfectly performed, and certain debris, which is the result of natural bodily waste and decay, does not escape as it should, but remains to corrupt the blood and develop poisonous humors and dangerous as well as painful diseases. It is one of the beneficient effects of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters to gently stimulate the urinary organs, and prevent them from lapsing into a state of inactivity, always provocative of their inflammatory degeneration and decay. How much better, then, is it to adopt this mild diuretic as a means of inciting them to action, than to incur the danger of this destruction. To expel from the system waste matter through the bowels and kidneys, and to regulate and arouse the stomach and liver, are among the chief uses of this valuable remedy.

PARIS, August 7—1:30 p. m.—Rentes 82f. 50c.

The London Times, in its financial article, states that the withdrawal of gold from the Bank of England on the 6th instant for the United States was probably a precursor of larger shipments in payment of quantities of American produce arriving in London and in France, and that the steady decline in the rates of exchange has pointed to such a movement in bullion for some time past. It is understood that the Bank of England holds a large amount in American eagles.

The Paris Credit Faucier yesterday opened a subscription for one million obligations at fifty francs each on account of the city of Paris and sundry other French municipalities. It is understood that the issue was covered more than eight times in Paris alone.

MONTREAL, August 7.—The Exchange Bank of Canada suspended payment this morning.

THE COTTON MARKET.

CONSTITUTION OFFICE,
Atlanta, August 7, 1879.

New York opened at figures much ahead of yesterday's close, but very early in the day the market began to show signs of giving way, which finally resulted in a heavy decline, the market closing weak. Considerable excitement prevails, and active speculating is reported—sales amounting to 155,000 bales, or nearly as much as on yesterday. The market is very changeable, though no reason is assigned for it.

As for the local market, excitement prevails here also, and a majority of the boys were bearish, and so the boys struck it on the right side again. Just before the close a heavy drop was reported, which sent all home with smiling faces.

Liverpool closed quiet, and gained on spots 1-16d, and on futures 3-16d; sales 12,000 bales, of which 2,700 bales were American.

PROVISIONS, GRAIN, ETC.

CONSTITUTION OFFICE,
Atlanta, August 7, 1879.

Flour, Grain and Meal.

ATLANTA, August 7.—Flour—In the west is weak. The local market is steady with sales tolerably fair. Choice family brands are finding an easier market than lower grades. We quote the market as follows: superfine $4.00; extra $4.75; family $5.50; extra family $6.00; fancy $6.25@$6.50. Wheat—The decline in Chicago was greater to-day than for several days past, and local speculating was comparatively light. Since yesterday's opening September has lost 2c per bushel. October during the same time lost 1½c per bushel. The market closed weak for futures. Spots or August wheat opened this morning at 86¾ and closed at 84¾ in the short space of five hours. Chicago reports receipts to-day 113,217 bushels; shipments 68,493 bushels. The local market (spots) is quiet with but very little offering. We quote: Tennessee choice white $1.10@$1.12; Tennessee medium $1.00@$1.05; Georgia choice white and amber 90c; lower grades 85c. Corn—Chicago market nearly steady pro fluctuation reported; movements not so heavy as yesterday, and as follows: receipts 287,3-8 bushels; shipments 110,9 0 bushels. The local market is scance with corn in good request at quotations: white 70c; yellow 65@67c. Oats—The west is rather dull. There is a very good local demand for oats. Some of our merchants are constantly receiving lots from the west, which they find but little trouble to dispose of. The market is steady at 45c. Meal—In good demand at 57@70c.

ATLANTA, August 7—Flour unchanged and quiet; Howard Street and western superfine $2.75@$3.50; extra $4.00@$4.75; family $5.00@$5.85; City Mills superfine $4.00@$4.25; extra $4.25@$4.75; Rio brands $5.75@$6.00; Patapsco family $6.75. Wheat, southern firm; western barely steady; southern red $1.02@$1.06; amber $1.07@$1.09; No. 1 Maryland $1.09@$1.09½; No. 2 western winter red spot and August $1.07¼@$1.07½; September $1.08⅝@$1.08¾; October $1.09⅞@$1.10; southern firm and higher; western firm and active; southern white 54; no offerings of yellow. Oats quiet and steady; southern 38@39¾; western white 37@38¾; western mixed 36@37; Pennsylvania 37@38. Hay quiet; prime to choice Pennsylvania and Maryland $13.00@$14.00.

NEW YORK, August 7.—Flour heavy; in some instances 10@15c lower, with a moderate export and home trade demand; southern flour steady and more active; common to fair extra $5.00@$6.65; good to choice extra $5.70@$7.00. Wheat, market about ½c lower, with a fair export and active speculative business, ungraded winter red 92@$1.08½; No. 2 do. $1.08¾ $1.09⅝. Corn ¼@¼c better and moderately active; ungraded 45@66c. Oats about ½c better and more active; rejected 31; No. 3 32¼; do white 33; No. 2 33⅛@34; do. white 37@37¾. Hay firmly held; shipping 50. Hops quiet and very strong; yearlings 6@7; eastern and western 8@12; new New York 7@18.

ST. LOUIS, August 7.—Flour quiet; prices unchanged; double extra fall $3.85@$4.15; treble extra fall $4.45@$4.70; family $4.70@$4.80; choice to fancy $4.85@$5.50. Wheat active and a shade higher but reacted at the close; No. 2 red fall 94⅞@94⅞ cash; 94⅞@95, closing at 94½ August; 93⅞@94⅝, closing at 94¼ September; 94⅛@94⅞ October; 91 all the year; No. 3 do. 88. Corn unsettled and lower; No. 2 mixed 31½@32 cash; 32@32⅛, closing at 31½ asked, September; 32¼@32⅞ October. Oats higher; No. 2 22@22½ cash; 23 September; 23½ October.

CHICAGO, August 7—Wheat active and lower; No. 2 spring 94¼@94½; 2 Chicago spring 85¼ asked, cash; No. 3 do. 76¼; rejected 62. Corn steady and firm; high mixed No. 2 38⅛ cash; 38⅛ September; 34½ October; rejected 31¾. Oats steady and in fair demand; No. 2 27⅞ cash September and October. At the close corn was easier and ⅛c lower. Oats easier and ⅛c lower.

LOUISVILLE August 7—Flour quiet; extra $3.00; do. family $4.00@$5.00; A No. 1 $6.00@$6.50; fancy $5.25@$6.00. Wheat dull; red and amber 90@95. Corn quiet; white 48; mixed 40. Oats quiet and steady; new white 37; mixed 35.

CINCINNATI, August 7.—Flour steady; family $4.6 @$5.75. Wheat in fair demand and firm; red and white 92@97. Corn firmer but not quotably higher at 38½@39. Oats in fair demand; new 27@30.

Miscellaneous.

ATLANTA, August 7—Lime—Market active. In car-load lots, free on cars in Atlanta, 86c; less than car-loads 90c is asked; Rosendale cement $2.50 per bbl. of 300 lbs. neat; Louisville cement, car-load lots, $1.75; less than car-load $2.00; Portland cement, car-load lots $4.75; less than car-load $5.00; plaster-of-paris ("calcined"), car-load lots, $2.25; in smaller quantities $2.50@$2.75; land plaster ("new fertilizer"), car-load lots $2.25 ⅌ bbl.; less than car-loads $2.50 ⅌ bbl.; marble dust in lots $4.00@$4.00 ⅌ bbl.

ATLANTA, August 7.—Leather—The market is very firm with business unusually good. The boot and shoe market is firm and steady. Buyers seem more inclined to yield to the advanced prices. The prospect for the fall trade is very promising. The ruling local prices are as follows: hemlock sole, good, 24@26c; hemlock G. D. 21c; good white oak sole 32@33c; Georgia upper 30@40c; harness leather 28@35c.

ATLANTA, August 7.—Wool—In the east prices are still firm, though the demand has considerably weakened. The local market is almost bare of stock, yet there is a steady inquiry kept up. There are no changes to report to-day: washed 20@30; unwashed 20@25c; burry 15c.

ATLANTA, August 7.—Plastering Hair—There has been an active demand for hair for some months past, and sales have been larger than ever before. We quote Georgia 20@25 ⅌ bu.; western 25@30; ladies, car-load, $2.50 ⅌ M; less quantities $2.75 ⅌ M.

ATLANTA, August 7.—Paper—Market steady at quotations. Manilla paper No. 1 8½c ⅌ lb; No. 2 7c ⅌ lb; No. 3 6c ⅌ lb; wrapping 4½ ⅌ lb; straw 2½ ⅌ lb; burlap bags for corn, new, 6½@6¾c; for wool 8@8¾; second-hand 5½, 6, 6½.

ATLANTA, August 7.—Hay—In the west a fair inquiry is reported. The home market firm at quotations; $1.10 for choice Timothy; $1.00@$1.05 for mixed.

ATLANTA, August 7.—Salt—We quote $1.40 for Virginia; $1.00@$1.05 for Liverpool.

NEW YORK, August 7.—Rosin dull at $1.27½@$1.30. Turpentine steadier at 26½.

ATLANTA, August 7.—Wheat Bran—In moderate demand at 80c.

ATLANTA, August 7.—Cotton Ties—Are held at $2.65.

Provisions.

ATLANTA, August 7.—Bulk meats—Chicago declined 2½ points each for Scptembner and October. Spots steady and firm. Hog receipts 9,250. Our dealers complain that transportation is scarce, and that they find it difficult to get goods through from Chicago and other sections in the west. They seem to show no good reason why it should be so unless it is caused by the quarantine, which may possibly produce a fear on the part of western dealers as to the chance of getting cars returned in case of a spread of the fever and a general blockading of transportation facilities: so hesitate about letting cars go. This seems to be about the only reason assigned for the trouble, which may be the true one. At all events, we can rely on an adjustment of all drawbacks in a few days. There is still an active demand here, and trade is considered good. The demand for August is better than for several years. We quote clear rib sides 5¼. Bacon—In excellent demand with light stock offering. Sugar-cured hams are in active request at 11@12c; shoulders are firm and steady at 5c; bright small sides 6⅝c; plain hams 7@8c. But little breakfast bacon on market, which is held at 8@9c. Mess Pork—Chicago declined to-day. Lard—The western markets are reported dull. Chicago reports show a loss of 10 points for September and October. There is no change in the local market. Business is as good as can be reasonably expected; tierces 8¾; refined 8¾@9; kegs, cans, etc., 9@9½.

CINCINNATI, August 7—Pork dull and a shade lower; $8.50 bid, $8.70 asked, for round lots. Lard dull and lower; current make 5.40 cash. Bulk Meats dull; shoulders 3.25; short ribs 4¼ bid, 4.30 asked; short clear scarce at 4½@4.55. Bacon steady; shoulders 3.90@4; clear ribs 4.80@4.90; clear sides 5.15@5.20.

NEW YORK, August 7—Pork in buyers' favor, closing firm and more active; new mess spot quoted at $8.55@$9.00. Middles dull; long clear 4.9@5; short clear 5¼; long and short clear 5. Lard decidedly lower, closing firm; prime steam, spot 5.72½@5.77½.

BALTIMORE, August 7—Provisions steady; Mess pork $10.25. Bulk meats loose, shoulders 3½; clear rib sides 4 packed, shoulders 4¾; clear rib sides 5¼. Bacon, shoulders 4¾; clear rib sides 5¾; hams 11@12. Lard, refined in tierces 7.

ST. LOUIS, August 7—Pork dull and lower at $8.75. Bulk meats nominal; car lots of clear rib 3.90@4.35, ⅌ cwt.; clear sides 4@4.55. Bacon easier; clear ribs 4⅞; clear sides 5¼ asked. Lard dull and nominal at 5¾.

CHICAGO, August 7—Pork dull, weak and lower; $8.10@$8.15 cash. Lard dull, weak and lower; 5.82½@5.35 cash. Bulk meats dull, weak and lower; shoulders 3.35; clear ribs 4.35; clear sides 4.55.

Groceries.

ATLANTA, August 7.—The market is steady with considerable activity of some lines of goods. Coffee is steady as follows: Rio 19@20; Java 28@30; Rio 11 lbs 1¾. Roasted Coffee—Fair demand old government Java 30@35; best Rio 20½; choice and fair is @19. Sugars—The eastern markets are still firm, which is usually the case at this season of the year. The demand for sugars by fruit curers at this season is very great, hence the firm tone. Local market is steady and firm: A sugar 9¼; granulated 9½@9¾; cut loaf 10; powdered 10; extra C 8¾; yellow 7¾@8¾; New Orleans sugar in moderate demand at 7½@9 Molasses — Business is very fair, with good stocks now offered; white 40; tierces 21; barrels 22. SATURDAY, AUGUST 9th.

The Constitution.

ATLANTA, GA., AUGUST 8, 1879.

SIDEWALK NOTES.

—Festival Fifth Baptist church, Aug. 8th.

—Be sure to go to East Point on Saturday.

—When is Asa Gunn's trial to come off?

—Atlanta is well represented in Athens.

—Our Sabbath school friends want to see us at East Point on Saturday.

—Give your children a holiday in the country, at East Point, Saturday.

—Good Sabbath school singing at East Point, Saturday.

—Cartersville, it is said, is behind on girls.

—The Kimball house hop last night was a most delightful affair.

—Another Tybee excursion is on the tapis.

—Archery clubs are on the decline in Atlanta.

—Billiards is the ruling game at present with the young men.

—The glass ball clubs are out practicing nearly every afternoon.

—The street car track on Marietta street is to be extended to Oglethorpe park.

—There is a liberal exudation from the human skin just now.

—Be sure and attend the Fulton county Sabbath school celebration at East Point on Saturday.

—Every arrangement has been perfected for a delightful Sunday-school celebration at East Point on Saturday.

—Superintendent E. C. Peters is inventing a dummy engine for the Ponce de Leon line.

—The best drummer and agent to sell goods just now, is THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

—Governor Brown's building is growing very rapidly and it is calculated that it will be finished by the 1st of November.

—Go out to-morrow afternoon and attend the open air concert at the city hall park by the post band.

—The numerous piles of mud collected upon Broad street should be hauled away at once.

—Quite a large number will go down to East Point Saturday to attend the Fulton county Sabbath-school convention.

—Another base ball match is to take place at an early day at Oglethorpe park between the Dixies of Greensboro and another club.

—Dr. McMartin had a valuable pet dog and a litter of puppies stolen from his residence a few days since.

—The numerous friends of the Fulton county Sabbath-school should bear in mind the celebration which comes off at East Point on Saturday.

—We understand the friends of Mrs. J. L. Robertson have arranged a grand concert for her benefit. The programme will be published in full in Sunday's paper.

—Two prominent gentlemen of Atlanta, owners of fast horses, have made a match to trot a race at Oglethorpe park at an early day. The gentlemen are to drive their own steppers and the horses are to be put up as stakes, the winner taking both. The sight will no doubt be quite amusing and will attract a large crowd.

Dr. Skinner.

The Raleigh Observer says: An adjourned meeting of the First Baptist church was held last night at the church on Salisbury street. There was a large congregation present and the object for which the church had met was soon accomplished. Out of 141 votes cast Rev. Dr. Thomas E. Skinner received 109 and was declared the choice of the congregation for its pastor. If Dr. Skinner accepts the call he will be warmly welcomed back to his old home and his old friends who love and admire him. His brilliant talents will continue the progress of the church and add to its already full ranks.

Be Ready.

From the annexed article from the Columbus Enquirer our colored firemen, the Blue Eagle's, will see that they are to have a struggle if they succeed in the coming contest:

Washington fire company No. 2 will visit Atlanta on the 11th instant, when a contest will take place between them and the colored company of the gate city. The boys are making every preparation to bear off the trophy, and will succeed unless Atlanta has an extraordinary set of colored firemen. We don't believe there is a better company in the state than Washington No. 2, and will be disappointed if they do not win in the contest. Yesterday they were having their engine repaired by Mr. Moshell, and in other ways making ready for the struggle.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

THIRTY-FIRST DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

The Senate.

ATLANTA, August 7.—The senate met at 10 o'clock and was called to order by President LESTER. Prayer by Rev. Mr. SMITH. The roll was called and a quorum found to be present. The journal was read.

Leave of absence was granted Messrs HOLTON, and HAMILTON, of the 14th.

THE MACON AND BRUNSWICK RAILROAD.

The senate, when it adjourned the day before, had under consideration a bill to provide for the lease of the Macon and Brunswick railroad. The first section had been adopted and the second section was then read.

Mr. HAMILTON, of the 21st, offered an amendment requiring an advertisement for sixty days instead of forty-five days. Lost.

Mr. PRESTON offered an amendment, which was withdrawn. The second section was then adopted.

The third section was read. Messrs. BRYAN, BOWER and RUSSELL, offered amendments to the bill.

Mr. RUSSELL spoke in favor of his amendment, which related to the security to be offered and to the amount which the lessees are to be worth. He also opposed the line which declared that the road shall not be leased to speculators.

Mr. HAWKINS spoke in favor of the bill as it is and said the road should be let to good men at home who could use it beneficially.

Mr. HOLTON offered an amendment to strike out the lines refering to non-resident speculators.

Mr. CABANISS offered a substitute for the whole section and spoke in its favor.

Mr. BRYAN agreed with the view of Mr. Hawkins that it is best to stick to the bill as closely as possible. Mr. BRYAN offered an amendment that the road should not be leased to any speculator.

Mr. CABANISS withdrew his substitute.

Mr. BOWER'S amendment after being explained by him was adopted.

Mr. RUSSELL'S amendment was lost.

Mr. BRYAN'S amendment was agreed to.

Mr. HAMILTON, of the 21st, moved to amend by making the security $250,000 instead of $500,000. Lost.

Mr. HOLTON'S amendment was agreed to.

Mr. LUMPKIN offered an amendment changing the phraseology of the bill. The section as amended was agreed to. The fourth section was then read.

Mr. HAMILTON, of the 21st, offered an amendment providing that the improvements be made at Brunswick as well at Macon.

Mr. FAIN explained why the bill omitted this provision. The bill contemplated an improvement on the state's property.

Mr. HAMILTON withdrew his amendment.

The fourth section was adopted.

The fifth section was read.

Mr. CLARKE offered an amendment, in favor of which he briefly spoke.

Mr. LUMPKIN offered an amendment looking to the settlement with the lessees.

Mr. CLARKE offered an addition to his amendment.

Mr. McDANIEL offered an amendment to the amendment of Mr. CLARKE.

Mr. CUMMING offered an amendment to strike out the proviso of the section relative to the condition of the road after it shall be returned.

Mr. HOLCOMBE favored the amendment.

Mr. CUMMING argued in favor of his amendment, and said that the proviso allowed an indefinite outlay of money with a guarantee that the state would reimburse the lessees. He thought such a proviso unconstitutional.

Mr. McDANIEL favored the amendment offered by Mr. CUMMING.

Mr. DUBOSE supported the proviso, and said it was not a covert grant of state aid as the senator from the 39th had charged.

Mr. PRESTON took a similar view of the question, and said there was nothing of state aid in the bill, and the proviso had in it nothing in conflict with the constitution.

Mr. PRESTON argued for the proviso as a matter of justice and as being perfectly constitutional.

Mr. CLARKE said the amendment offered by Mr. CUMMING met his approbation as to its intention, but he favored some alteration in it which he thought the author of the amendment himself would indorse.

Mr. CLARKE then clearly expressed his views on the amendment.

Mr. FAIN argued in favor of the proviso and said it was an act of simple justice. There was no intention to wrap up any fraud in the proviso. The committee had as well as any other senators the honor and welfare of Georgia.

Mr. HOLCOMBE said he did not insinuate as to whether the fault was a mere omission or an intention of the committee.

Mr. HOLTON—Will the senator explain what he meant by "gobbling up."

Mr. HOLCOMBE—did I say anything about "gobbling up?"

Mr. HOLTON—You did yesterday?

Mr. HOLCOMBE—Oh, well, gobbling up is easily defined. It is a fellow picking up what don't belong to him.

The amendment of Mr. CUMMING, striking out the proviso, was adopted. The section as amended was passed.

A MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE

was here received. It announced the passage of certain bills.

The sixth and seventh sections of the bill were then read and adopted.

To the eighth section Mr. FAIN offered an amendment, which was agreed to.

The ninth section was read and adopted.

The tenth section was read and adopted.

To the eleventh section Mr. CANDLER offered an amendment, providing that the road commissioners may not reside on the line of the road.

Mr. FAIN gave the reasons which prompted the action of the committee on this section.

Mr. CLARKE offered an amendment, which he afterwards withdrew.

Mr. BOWER offered amendments, of which he explained the purpose very clearly his amendment, relating to the efforts of the governor to lease the road.

Mr. PRESTON offered an amendment on the same subject, which was withdrawn.

Mr. LUMPKIN and Mr. GRIMES offered amendments to the bill.

Mr. GRIMES offered an amendment confining the expenditures of the commissioners to the profits of the road.

The amendment of Mr. GRIMES was adopted, and the section, as amended, was agreed to.

The twelfth section was read.

Mr. WELLBORN offered an amendment to the section, which was agreed to.

The section was passed as amended.

The thirteenth section was read and agreed to.

The fourteenth section was read. Mr. GRIMES and Mr. HOLTON offered amendments to it.

Mr. BOWER offered an amendment, in favor of which he was speaking when he yielded the floor, that the standing committees might make reports.

The reports were read.

Under a suspension of the rules a bill to incorporate the Louisville and Wadley railroad was introduced.

Mr. HAWKINS introduced a bill to create a board of railroad commissioners, etc. Referred to committee on railroads.

The senate then adjourned to ten o'clock to-morrow.

The House.

The house was called to order at 9 a.m., by Speaker BACON and opened with prayer by Rev. JOHN JONES, chaplain.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

To create a board of police commissioners in Augusta. Passed.

To authorize the board of education of Whitfield county to pay $163 to the county school commissioner for services rendered in 1871. Passed.

MACON AND BRUNSWICK RAILROAD.

The special order being the consideration of the bill to lease the Macon and Brunswick railroad was taken up, and on motion of Mr. FOXY tabled for the present.

NATIONAL QUARANTINE.

On motion of Mr. ADAMS the rules were suspended, and the senate bill ceding to the United States certain land in the Savannah river for a quarantine ground was taken up and read the second time.

THE GREENE MEMORIAL COMMITTEE.

Messrs. HARRIS, HUMBER and HOLLIS were announced as the special committee on the memorial of Hon. J. A. Greene.

INFORMATION ASKED FOR.

Mr. CHAMBERS introduced a resolution calling upon the principal keeper of the penitentiary to give a detailed statement of any money received by him since October, 20th 1878, from the lessees of the penitentiary convicts, the amount received, from whom, and when received and the disposition of the same, which was agreed to.

SENATE AMENDMENTS.

On motion of Mr. RUSSELL, the house took up and concurred in the senate amendment to the house bill "to protect the liberty of the citizens in proceedings for recovery of personal property where bail is required."

On motion of Mr. DUVALL, the house took up and concurred in the senate amendments to the house bill to "amend the act to enlarge section 4510 of the code.

SEATS ON THE FLOOR.

On motion of Mr. HARRIS, a seat was tendered Hon. C. B. Hudson, of Schley.

On motion of Mr. WELSH, a seat was tendered Hon. G. N. Lester, of Cobb.

On motion of Mr. PEACOCK, a seat was tendered Hon. B. D. Evans, of Washington.

On motion of Mr. YANCEY, a seat was tendered Hon. Henry Hull.

ON SECOND READING.

A number of bills favorably reported on were read the second time and passed for a third reading.

The following were unfavorably reported on, and were read the second time and disposed of as stated:

To supplement the act to carry into effect paragraph 2, section 18, article 6 of the constitution. Lost.

To authorize the foreclosure of mortgages on personal property where the principal sum is not over $100 in justices' courts. Recommitted.

To carry into effect paragraph 6, section 4, article 4 of the constitution. Withdrawn.

To amend the act creating a board of commissioners in Columbia county. Withdrawn.

To exempt firemen from jury duty. Withdrawn.

To prevent the sale of liquor in the state. Withdrawn.

To repeal the act to prohibit the sale of liquor within one mile of Milner. Lost.

To speed the trial of criminal cases. Withdrawn.

To require clerks of superior courts to record all writs, deeds, etc. Messrs. GARRARD and MATHEWS urged a disagreement with the report of the committee. On motion of Mr. MATHEWS it was recommitted.

To provide that the annual rental of the Western and Atlantic railroad and the profits of the Macon and Brunswick railroad be applied only to the payment of the bonded debt of the state. Tabled.

To abolish the county school commissioner. Tabled.

To appropriate $328 to J. J. Morrison for cross ties, used on the Western and Atlantic railroad. Lost.

To amend section 3845 of the code, and keep open, remove and prevent obstruction to the free passage of fish in the waters of this state.

Messrs. STROTHER and MCCURRY, in terse and eloquent efforts, urged a disagreement with the report of the committee, and the bill was recommitted.

To amend section 4263 of the code. Withdrawn.

To provide for appeals in the superior court from one jury to another. Withdrawn.

To amend section 1458 of the code. Lost.

To provide for levying a tax on gypsies and other strolling bands of like character.

Messrs. MCWHORTER and KING urged the house to disagree to the report of the committee, and Mr. MILLER, of Houston, sustained the report. Referred to the judiciary committee.

To amend the act to prescribe the mode of granting liquor licenses in Green county by exempting W. B. Gill from its provisions. Lost.

To require all boards of commissioners to be bonded officers. Withdrawn.

To amend section 4560 of the code. Withdrawn.

To amend section 4392 of the code. Recommitted.

To make violations of written contracts a misdemeanor. Withdrawn.

To amend section 4587 of the code. Lost.

To amend section 3700 of the code.

For the relief of the heirs of E. S. Glover, of Jasper county. Withdrawn.

To regulate the compensation of tax receiver, tax collector and treasurer of Heard county. Withdrawn.

To limit and regulate the bringing of suits sounding in torts against municipal corporations. Lost.

For the relief of William Rich, of Fulton county.

Messrs. MYNATT and HULSEY urged disagreeing to the report of the committee.

Messrs. YANCEY and MILLER, of Houston, sustained the report.

Pending the remarks of Mr. HULSEY, the house adjourned until 9 a.m. to-morrow.

The Health Employes.

WASHINGTON, August 7.—Judge Tarbek, deputy first auditor of the treasury department, decided to-day that health officers and other employes appointed by the local and state boards of health and drawing pay from the national board, are not United States officers in any such sense as would require them to take the oath of office prescribed by the statutes for all United States employes. The national board may pay them at the request of local organizations, but they are still no more than agents of that board and not United States officers.

Committee on Rules.

LONG BRANCH, August 7.—Rooms were engaged to-day for the committee on rules of the United States house of representatives which will meet here August 12th to revise the rules of congress.

THE PRESENT SUPERIORITY of the age over the past is largely determined by the excellence and cheapness of articles of daily use. Among these must be preferred such a household boon as Dooley's Yeast Powder, which is the ruling favorite with the public. The cans are always full weight and the powder itself pure, strong and perfect in its adaptation to use.
